Biography for Wendy Sun, Psy.D.

Dr. Wendy Sun is a licensed clinical psychologist specializing in early intervention and infant mental health. She is currently the clinical director of the Westside Infant-Family Network (WIN) located in Culver City, California. She oversees the clinical department of the program including direct clinical services and trainings. Dr. Sun has provided community-based mental health services to children ages 0-5 and their families in the past 6 years. She has also provided individual and group clinical supervision to licensed staff, Marriage and Family Therapist Interns, Associate Clinical Social Workers, Doctoral-Level Psychology Interns, and Post-Doctoral therapists. In addition, Dr. Sun has provided trainings at national and regional conferences in the area of infant mental health diagnosis and treatment. She has also taught in the area of child psychology at the Alliant International University. Dr. Sun has a B.A. in Psychology from the University of California, Los Angeles, and received both her Master and Doctoral degrees in Clinical Psychology from California School of Professional Psychology - Alliant International University. As a direct-service provider, clinical supervisor, and trainer, Dr. Sun is passionate about delivering culturally-sensitive and strength-based mental health services to support young children in developing healthy attachment and achieving optimal potentials, as well as to improve the quality of life for families. Her professional interests include infant mental health, multicultural issues related to early intervention, and family systems in impoverished communities.
